

Thanksgiving Holiday Cut To One Day

SGA Approves Year's Budget

Legislature Plans To Buy War Bonds With $2000 Fund

By NORMA WEATHERSPOON

War bonds will be purchased with $2,000, which has been lying idle in the Student Government association's surplus fund for approximately four years, if President Herman L. Donovan approves the budget adopted by the student legislature at its meeting Tuesday night.

The money, a part of the original fund of the association, will be put into bonds with the recommendation that future legislators use the face value and the interest received as a part of the Student War fund when the bonds mature.

Budget Passed

After debate which lasted for more than an hour, the legislators passed the following budget:

War bonds	$2,000.00
Student directories	275.00
Printing	140.00
Postage	30.00
War chest	50.00
Stenographic service	50.00
Kentuckian appropriation	670.00
Kentuckian pages for SGA	30.00
Social committee and YM-YWCA	700.00
Student Loan fund	230.00
Miscellaneous	192.50

Surplus Remains

A surplus of $1,000 remains in the treasury for emergencies. This budget has been sent to Dr. Donovan for his approval or rejection.

The legislature authorized Jim Collier, president, to discuss the distribution of student fees with Frank D. Peterson, comptroller.

David Marcus, newly appointed chairman of the Welfare committee, reported that his group has begun investigation of the Student Commons. It has been found that a meal which can be purchased at the cafeteria at the University high school for 25 cents, costs 45 cents at the University cafeteria.

Other matters which the Welfare committee plans to investigate later are the men's dormitories and the closing of the grill and library during convocation periods. Marcus stated that the rooms on the fourth floor of the men's halls had ceilings so low that the residents could not stand upright. These rooms, built as single rooms, now accommodate two students each and cost the same as other rooms in the dormitories.

Drowsy and lethargic except when money matters were being discussed, the legislators also disposed of more routine business.

Secretary Resigns

Elizabeth Chapman resigned as secretary of the legislature, and Eloise Bennett, agriculture representative, was chosen to fill the vacancy.

George Warwick, arts and sciences senior from Mt. Sterling, was elected to fill the vacancy in the legislative body created when Glenn Price, who was installed at the previous meeting, had to leave school to assume military service.

International Students day will be observed by programs being planned by a special committee of the SGA in connection with the YM-YWCA. This recognition of higher education will be made on November 17.

Members absent from the meeting were Alex Hall, George Gilbert, Margaret Erskine, Jack Atchison, Jerry Eastham, William Schick, and Kenneth Vanlandingham. Members who miss three consecutive meetings are automatically expelled from the legislature, according to the constitution of the SGA.

YWCA TO HOLD SERVICES FOR NEW MEMBERS

Recognition Set In Bluegrass Room At 8 P. M. Tuesday

Candlelight recognition services for all new members of YWCA will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Bluegrass room of the Union building.

The entire membership will participate in the candlelighting ceremony which symbolizes the fellowship of the University YW with the entire international organization.

The YW advisory board and new cabinet members will be presented to the group.

Talks based on the principles, standards, motives, and organizational set-up of the association will be given. Speakers will be Jane Birk, vice-president; Sarah Anne Hall, secretary; Carolyn Spicer, treasurer; and Ruth Wheat, membership chairman. Jeannette Graves, president, will preside at the services.

Mabel Gumm, violinist, and Miss Adele Gensemer, pianist, will provide music for the ceremonies.

RESERVE CORPS TO BE CLOSED

Only New Students To Be Admitted

Lt. Col. John E. Brannan, professor of Military Science and Tactics, has announced that the Enlisted Reserve Corps will be closed to freshmen after December 31, 1942. Freshmen now enrolled in the University may join the Enlisted Reserve Corps until the end of this year. Future quotas will be filled by students entering the University after January 1, 1943. Freshmen wishing to join the Enlisted Reserve Corps, must do so before that time.

All freshmen desiring to enlist in the ERC must first apply to Dr. M. M. White, Personnel Director, for a certificate of eligibility. This certificate will be issued to freshmen in lieu of the certificate now issued by the various deans for upperclassmen.

Funkhouser Holds Open Class Today

Former Ed 'Sea-sonal,' Now A Gob

Jim Caldwell, former editor of The Kernel who was graduated from the University in 1941, is now an apprentice seaman at the Great Lakes Naval Training school.

Visiting here this week, Caldwell was completely "sea-sonal" in his bell bottom trousers, middie blouse, and navy tan.

Said he: "My greatest experience to date has been trying to sleep in a hammock." It seems the darn things are anything but stable, and as difficult to mount as a balky horse.

"I've found myself on the floor in the middle of the night three times," our sailor said. "Thump, thud, and %*!%" echo through the barracks nightly as the landsmen attempt to master the hammock art.

"The Jungle negro" is the subject to be discussed by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser at 10 o'clock today in the third open class of the current series. The class, meeting in Room 8 of the Biological Sciences building, will be thrown open to all students who wish to attend.

Dr. Funkhouser, head of the department of zoology and dean of the Graduate school, has gathered information about rare animal life through extensive world travels.

The open-class plan, inaugurated last year, permits students to "sample" interesting lectures in classes for which they are not enrolled.

Put On Your Glad Rags Boys; The Climax Occurs Tomorrow

Look Your Best, Stand The Test, You're The Guest

"May I have your second no-break?" may sound incongruous coming from a dainty co-ed but that's what you can expect at the annual Sadie Hawkins dance Saturday night.

The now-you-know-what-it's-like dance will be held from 9 until 12 in the Bluegrass room of the Union building. Costumes are required; girls will do all breaking; no stags allowed. Tickets may be purchased for 75 cents from members of Cwens, Keys, or sororities, or at the door. All boys must have a "This is my man" tag.

Six no-breaks are planned, one of which will honor the organization selling the most tickets for the dance. The troubadours from Frankfort will play.

Ethics for behavior at the affair have been formulated by the authorities and should be strictly observed.

Girls, be sure to call for your date early (remember how it feels to get asked at the last minute). Don't forget that all-important corsage; fashion specialists suggest radishes and celery for a blue suit, purple and white grapes for a brown suit, or cauliflower for a tux. Take along plenty of cigarettes and gum and money for feeding your date before the dance, after the dance, and during intermission. Make proper arrangements for transportation, busses are acceptable. Get your man fixed up with no-breaks early so he won't feel that he's going to be a wallflower.

Boys, be ready on time (don't be mean and try to get even with the girls for all the waiting they've caused you). Appreciate all the little things your escorts do for you and let them know it. This includes opening doors, helping with coats, and other gallantries. And for goodness sake don't get out your razors and start shaving during intermission.

The first meeting will be held Thursday, November 12, and will be on "The Origin and Nature of Life." Speakers will include Dr. W. D. Valleau, Dr. R. N. Jeffrey, Dr. W. R. Allen, and Dr. A. C. McParlane. A round table discussion will conclude the meeting and will be led by Dr. John Kuiper.

The affair will be open to all members of the research club as well as other faculty members.

Rough Revere Rides Again, Dauntless Through The Night

Listen, my children, and you shall hear.

Of the second ride of Paul Revere; 'Twas November the second in '42, When the hero came, we don't know who.

Yes, our modern Paul was galloping across the campus on his Victory bike, clomp, clomp, clomp, paying absolutely no attention to the Keep-Off-The-Grass signs.

His henchman, probably suffering from an overdose of something or other, evidently got his signals mixed. Not two lights, not even one light appeared in the tower of the old north Memorial hall. 'Twas completely dark.

Well, there was Paul still clomping along. And then he came to the barbed wire fence outside McVey hall. To make matters simple, he ran into it.

Dobbin, his trusty mount, punctured one tire when he hit one of the iron posts and you know what that means. Paul himself broke his ankle-length dog chain and tore a five-inch square out of his zoot suit.

It was just too much for the old boy. He took his post-hole digger out of his saddle bags, dug up the posts, and disappeared toward Rose street with posts, wire, and all.

And that, children, is where the darn thing went, or had you missed it?

Research Club To Hold Lectures

"A view of the Modern Biological Sciences" is the general topic of discussion for lectures to be given before the Biological Research club during the quarter. It was announced by Dr. R. N. Weaver, leader of the group.

The first meeting will be held Thursday, November 12, and will be on "The Origin and Nature of Life." Speakers will include Dr. W. D. Valleau, Dr. R. N. Jeffrey, Dr. W. R. Allen, and Dr. A. C. McParlane. A round table discussion will conclude the meeting and will be led by Dr. John Kuiper.

The affair will be open to all members of the research club as well as other faculty members.

UK GRADUATE SCHEDULED FOR NEXT MUSICALS

Mary Louise McKenna Knapp, University graduate, will present the next musical at 4 p. m. Sunday in Memorial hall.

A soprano, Mrs. Knapp has been studying voice in New York since 1939, when she was graduated from the University, with the Bachelor of Science degree in music. Through the cooperation of Lexington music lovers, she was sent to New York to study with Mme. Maria Gay Zenatello and Dr. Jascha Ruskinn.

In New York, the young singer for several seasons was a member of the Radio City Music Hall ensemble and appeared in the stage productions and on the Sunday Music Hall of the Air programs. In the fall of 1941, she sang with the New Opera company.

In her concert Sunday, Mrs. Knapp will be accompanied at the piano by Adele South Gensemer.

A five-part program of classic and operatic numbers will be presented by the artist in her recital Sunday.

Opening with Handel's "Oh Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" from "Semele" she will sing next Tenebris's "Song," and an aria, "Deh vieni non tardar," from "The Marriage of Figaro," by Mozart.

A French group including compositions of Faure, Debussy and Hahn, and several selections by Brahms, and Strauss will be included in the concert.

An aria from Verdi's "Aida," "L'insana parola," will be the featured piece. Mrs. Knapp will conclude with English selections by Rachmaninoff, Schnercker, Gianiini, and Charles, including "In the Silence of the Night," and "A Kiss in the Rain."

Ushers for the concert will be members of Phi Beta and Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternities. They are Anita Ross, Betty Aldrich, Priscilla Graddy, Laura Jean Blake, Shirley Kilgore, Wanda Austin, Perry Adams, Ralph Kemp, Paul Nolte, and Joseph Terre.

ACTION IS DEEMED NECESSARY TO SAVE TRAVELING FACILITIES

At a meeting on Wednesday, November 4, the Faculty of the University voted to limit the Thanksgiving holiday to one day, Thursday, November 26. Classes will meet as usual on Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28.

This action was deemed necessary in view of the efforts of the government to limit the use of transportation facilities to travel essential to the war effort. Government officials and those responsible for transportation facilities in this area have appealed to the University authorities to make adjustments in its vacation schedules to reduce travel to the minimum and especially to avoid weekend use of buses and trains.

While the University will not be in session on Thanksgiving Day, students are urged to cooperate in the solution of the transportation problem by remaining in Lexington.

President Donovan will appoint a committee of faculty members and students to consider the adjustments that should be made in the Christmas holiday in the light of the above change, and with a view to further cooperation in the government's effort to solve the transportation problem.

In connection with the one-day recess at Thanksgiving, the attention of the faculty and students is called to the following rule relating to absences from class before and after a holiday: "Any student absent from class on the day immediately preceding or following a holiday shall have a penalty of one quarter hour and one quality point added to his requirements for graduation unless excused by the committee on Scholarship and Attendance. The Registrar shall call for a report of such absences and shall enter all those reported on the student's permanent record."

First Night "Claudia" Curtain Rises 8:30 Monday At Guignol

Franken Comedy To Run For Week; No Matinee Set

"Claudia," Rose Franken's comedy of young married life, will open at 8:30 Monday night in the Guignol theater for a week's run. No matinee is scheduled for Saturday because of the Kentucky-West Virginia football game.

Five University students are included in the cast of the production which will be directed by Frank Fowler. The leading roles of Claudia and David Naughton will be played by Barbara Rehm, arts and sciences senior, and Jim Purser, arts and sciences sophomore, respectively.

Hal Hackett, arts and sciences senior, will play the role of the "other man." Martin Snyder, law junior, will portray Fritz, the Naughton hired man, and Jacqueline Wiedeberg, arts and sciences junior, will enact the role of Bertha, his wife.

Julia Naughton, Claudia's ultra-sophisticated sister-in-law, will be done by Mrs. R. D. Montondo, while Mrs. J. Huntley Dupre will be presented as Claudia's mother, Madame Daruska, an eccentric opera singer, will be played by Mrs. Paul Little.

Claudia is the affectionate, scatter-brained child-wife of a somewhat dignified and successful young architect. The Naughtons live on a small farm within commuting distance of New York where David has his business.

Claudia is extremely naive, loves dill pickles, can't keep a check book straight, and doesn't understand why her husband should have to pay income tax. She allows a complete stranger to kiss her and then is surprised that her husband doesn't give her a big hug because she is glamorous enough to attract other men.

Her worst fault, listening in on other people's telephone conversations, leads her to suffer a severe jolt when she learns that her mother, whom she idolizes, will soon die of an incurable disease.

The play concerns the transition of this child-like character into a mature young woman who can no longer depend wholly on others to take her over the bumps of life.

Claudia first appeared as the heroine of a magazine series published in "Red Book" magazine. Later these individual short stories were incorporated in the play, entitled simply "Claudia."

Little incidents, which might occur in the home life of any young married couple make the characters into real people although they do not figure in the plot of the play. It is these little incidents that should make "Claudia" worth seeing. Students who wish to see this production must make reservations at the theater previous to the night of the performance they wish to attend. Guignol tickets, distributed during registration, plus fifty cents, will admit University students.

Reservations may be made by calling 5412 after 10 a. m. It is necessary that the whole card be presented at the box office before 7 on the night of the play.

Sweater Swing Held Tuesday

The second sweater swing of the quarter will be held from 4 to 6 p. m. Tuesday in the Bluegrass room of the Union.

A STREET SCENE DURING HOLLAND'S INVASION

Musical Mutterings

By Charlie Gardner

On last Friday night, your columnist had an interview with one of the country's leading colored saxists, Louis Jordan, who brought his five-piece combination to the Dixieland Club, Lexington's finest colored nightery, for a one-night engagement.

Jordan, who played in the well-known old Chick Webb orchestra, is an all-round reed man, giving out on alto, tenor, and soprano saxes, and also clarinet. He isn't outstanding on any certain one of these instruments but an expert on each. He has an individual style that isn't copied, and cannot be copied because only he himself can make a horn talk the way his does. Jordan is well-known by all musicians as one of the top saxists of today. He started not so long ago and is now on his way to fame by having a combination of five men, including himself, that really satisfies Mr. Public, no matter what type of a popular music lover he may be.

Jordan's outfit is composed of Arnold Thomas pounding the piano, Dallas Bartley slapping the bass fiddle, Eddie Byrd beating the drums, and Eddie Roane tooting the trumpet. The whole crew has been together now for two and a half years without a break. Thomas hails from Atlantic City and, before joining Jordan, was a music teacher at a high school in that town. He is a boogie-woogie specialist and can really pound out the "88."

Byrd was playing drums with the Alabama State Collegians when Jordan called him into his musical threshold to be the hideman. Byrd is a fine showman and has a lot of fine licks along with a terrific beat. Bartley left the King Pollack band in Chicago to take over the bull fiddle duties. Dallas does not have the "slap-stick comedy" style as is found with so many bassists of today, but instead, he produces a fine tone that sets the entire rhythm section off with the groovy touch. His home is in Springfield, Mo. Roane decided to leave Eddie Durham's band to go with Jordan, taking his trumpet with him and leaving his home in Hartford, Conn. Roane blows open something like Roy Eldridge, trumpeter with Gene Krupa, but is not an imitator. He has a very high range and does excellent work with mutes also.

Before arriving at Dixieland, Jordan came from a three-week engagement at the Riviera club in Columbus, Ohio, and also a string of one-nighters through the Middle West. In two weeks from now, until Christmas, the band will be playing at theaters of one week each in Baltimore, Washington, Detroit, Cleveland, Hartford, and then in New York for two weeks. They journey back to Chicago for an engagement from December 25 until February 10 at the Down Beat Room of the Garrick Bar.

Jordan's latest recordings were released on the Decca label yesterday. An original by Louis is the main feature of this platter entitled "Low Down Dirty Shame." Vocals are by the leader and features that fine and smooth alto sax. Tricky lyrics are also able to be mentioned. On the reverse is "I'm Gonna Leave You on the Outskirts of Town," with vocals again by Jordan with the words similar to those of Luncieford's "Gonna Move to the Outskirts."

Fine teamwork is evident on both sides with the former more rhythmic and with a faster tempo in spots, highlighted by solid beating put forth by drummer Eddie Byrd. For real entertainment and for real low-down jive, by all means be sure to hear these records as soon as possible because I don't think they will be in stock very long.

This is strictly a jam and jump outfit and with the personality manifested by all five musicians, Louis Jordan and his orchestra is our nomination for the finest small combination of 1942.

Good luck to you and the fellows, Louis, and "keep a-swinging!"

UK Is A Wonderful Place, But So Is The Air Corps

Printed here is a letter written by Jim Craig, somewhere in New Guinea, to Mr. E. G. Sulzer, director of the public relations department.

As he would like to hear from the students at the University, here is his address:

2nd Lt. James W. Craig, Jr.,
71st Bomb Sq., 38th Group
APO 922, c/o Postmaster
San Francisco, California

Dear Mr. Sulzer:

Seems quite some time since I was at the University last year but I haven't forgotten any of you, or any of the enjoyable times I had while there. Wish I were there now.

I quit U. K. in June 1941 after two years there. I joined the Air Corps in October of 1941 and received my wings and commission on June 11 of this year. I did some boxing during the intramurals of 1939 and 1940. Never was much good, though.

I often think of those grand days at the University. I don't think I could have enjoyed myself more at any other college. I always talked the University whenever I went home. I wanted to let others know of the wonderful opportunities it has to offer. And I am sure all my talking was not in vain, for I know of several who have gone there as the result of my salesmanship.

I am right in the middle of the war now; on the alert at all times, and seeing frequent action in the air. It is quite an experience for me. But I will be glad when it is all over and I can return to the good old U. S. A.

Wish I could hear from the University occasionally. I have asked several people there to send me some of the more important kernels. Hope they don't forget it. It is hard for those of you far from the war to realize how much we over here would like to have something to read. We read anything, regardless of its age. It is our best form of diversion. And, too, it helps to pass away the time.

I will be back through Lexington to see all of you someday. Hope it isn't too long.

Most sincerely,
JIM CRAIG

It's Confoozin', But Amoozin'

TIME OUT—By Tommy Moore

Ooooooh, what a muddle. Everybody is running around doing the wrong thing this week. The positions of the eds and coeds have been reversed insofar as is practicable and the resulting confusion is something to write home about. It is just as hard to remember which way one is supposed to act as it is to get used to acting that way.

The whole thing can be laid at the doorstep of Al Capp, but these UK belles have added a few innovations which even the talented artist, did not originate. Some lucky male gets a phone call and those nearby break into a series of ohs and ahs calculated to express their envy. Now we know what the girls go through, and many have been those who wished that the week would end so they could once more get a date.

One pair of lassies ran out of money Monday night and had to watch their dates do the eating while they covered the situation as best they could.

Hallowe'en parties brought out some of the costumes prematurely, but Kappa Ethyl Blanton kept things going in style as Daisie Mae, to mention only one.

At least nobody has heard of any Li'l Abners doing the ostrich act, and here's a bet that that record is still clean when Saturday night rolls around. Funny thing about these UK boys, they just don't seem to fit that part of the game. How many have been seen hiding out in front of the Union in a red coat? (The latter is quoted by the permission of Bob Bradley, copyright holder.)

Somebody said something about some guy complaining of being smothered by attention and writing a letter to the editor about it. Maybe so, but that is the first complaint of that sort we have ever heard, and what kind of man or mouse thinks thusly?

Down in Atlanta last year the Georgia Tech boys spent the afternoon kidding Kentucky people about not wearing shoes, carrying the jog of moonshine, and the old shooting iron, but if they could only be here this week they might have something to say out of the other side of their mouths. But what about that bunch of UK boys who are going to Atlanta early in order to go on a hay ride with the girls of Agnes Scott.

Well, it finally happened. After a lot of haranguing about reading The Kernel in class one fine student got the bounce ten minutes after a period started last Tuesday. Let that be a lesson to those bored by a lecture.

Lexington and vicinity is honeycombed with places of interest for the sightseer, but very few students take advantage of the opportunity to see places of historical interest, the homes of Kentucky's racehorses, and the natural beauty of this locality.

The previous paragraph does not include the traveling trio who furnished the inspiration for the dean's letter to all fraternities last week. It seems that three willing pledges disturbed some peaceful farmer at 3 a.m. and sat by his fire while learning the way back to Lexington after their big brothers had abandoned them somewhere in the Sahara. Resulting letter was a caution about the possibilities or probabilities of getting a load of buckshot from a righteous individual who might sometime mistake the intention of such a group.

Taking the Guignol production, "Claudia," on the road is a worthwhile bit of entertainment endeavor for the soldiers of Kentucky military posts. Opening night here at the University promises to be a big affair as usual. Monday night is the first presentation, don't forget.

Bill Goodloe was forced to drop out of school after his round of pneumonia and has returned to his home where he will recuperate until opening of the next quarter. His collection of gossip notes will be sorely missed by The Kernel, but those things will happen.

In Which Our Bombastic Notes End

THE FREE LANCE

In concluding our series on the more nauseous demagogues who man the American political battlefield, we do not wish to leave the impression that the populace is the unfortunate, but innocent, victim of a few unscrupulous conspirators against the public weal.

If that were the case, we would find very few such rabble-rousers in a democracy; but the contrary is patently true. For every Talmadge, for every O'Daniel there is a thousand followers with the same narrow-mindedness and bigotry.

Great masses with that fanatical conviction and righteous indignation, the characteristic possession of the ignorant, are the raw material from which these men are made. The leader differs from the followers only in ability and opportunity. Their thought-processes are the same.

Such a man is Representative Martin Dies, our nominee for the title "most dangerous man in Congress today." His technique differs markedly from the yokel-baiting trio—Talmadge, Smith, and O'Daniel—for Dies is after a more substantial and sophisticated following; and he is getting it.

Now, as is well known, there has been nothing since the days of infidels and witches in the Middle Ages which has so consistently aroused the passions, fears, and prejudices of the plodding middle-class citizenry as a good, old-fashioned Red scare. Its most brilliant propagandistic application to date, of course, has been in Germany, but the devotees of this particular brand of mob appeal are not lacking even at this critical time.

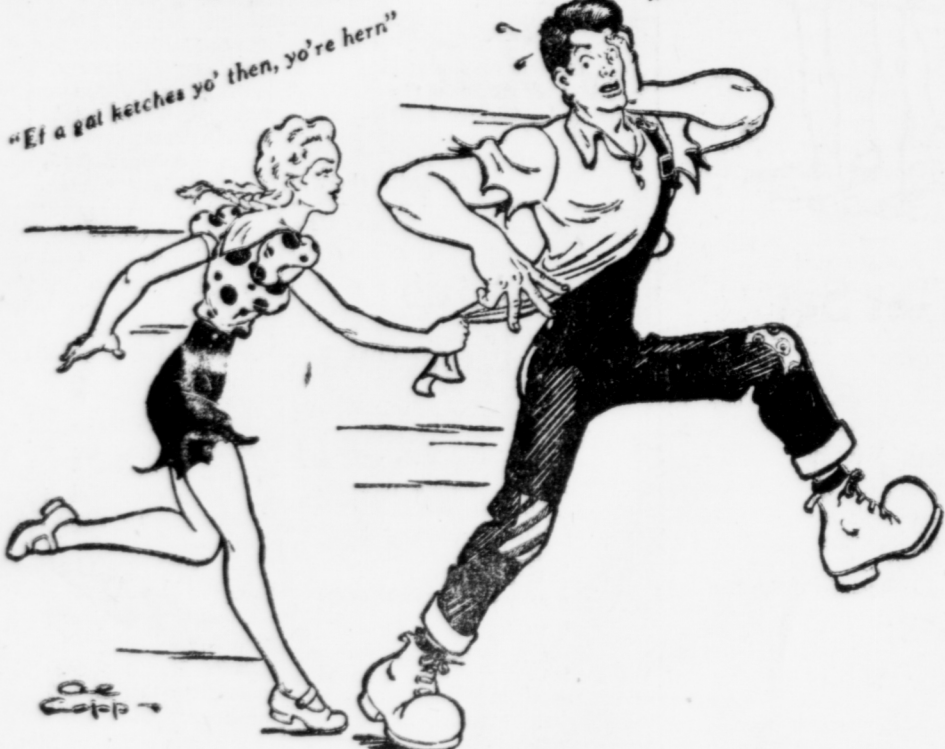

The venerable cult of Red-baiting in the United States has appeared to suffer very little from the fact that "Red" Russia has been fighting our battle for nearly a year and a half with almost microscopic support. Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, William Pelley, and a few other petty Fascists have been arrested while those in high places, a thousand times more harmful to the war effort, remain immune.

Martin Dies and his band of snoopers known as the Committee for the Investigation of Un-American Activities should rank as the number one "Un-American" organization in the country, though there is but feeble hope that such will be the case or, indeed, that an "Un-American" activity will ever be defined. The committee has received somewhat less publicity of late, presumably because no suitable liberals have been found for smear purposes, but the latest appropriation is doubtless being poured down the sewer at the same rate as the other $400,000 within the past four years.

It may be that the only possible remedy for a man like Dies is to have him live up to his most appropriate name, but we are convinced that the only permanent cure is avoidance of the Dies mentality among the voting population.

SADIE HAWKINS DAY

Daisy Mae's dream, Li'l Abner's nightmare

You can help save 29,000 hours a day

ONE second saved in each of the 106 million telephone calls made every day would add up to well over 29,000 hours—would help greatly to keep lines open for vital military and war production calls.

A single second is that important. So answer promptly, giving your location and name, and keep your conversation brief. When making a call, be sure you have the right number—use the directory—call information only when it's really necessary. And please don't use Long Distance to defense areas unless your call is urgent.

The Bell System has a big job to do. By saving seconds you may make room for a vital war-time call.

WAR CALLS COME FIRST!

Gone With Etc. Land To Re-Echo Saturday

'Cats In Atlanta To Tangle With Georgia Techmen

By BAXTER MELTON
KERNEL SPORTS EDITOR

"Gone With the Wind" country will be the site of Kentucky's quest for its first Southeastern Conference victory, this weekend, when the 'Cats tangle with Georgia Tech on Atlanta's Grant field at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Derailing the Ramblin' Wreck is a difficult problem for Coach Ab Kirwan's grid pupils, since the Engineers have triumphed in six successive games and are currently ranked as the third best team in the country. Wins over Notre Dame, Navy, and Duke are included on the Tech list. Opening with a 15-0 victory over Auburn, the Engineers started the grid world the next weekend by edging the Irish, 13-6; walloped Chattanooga, 30-12; routed Davidson, 33-0; ran over Navy, 21-0, and disposed of once-mighty Duke last week by 26-7.

Tech Is Unorthodox

Kentucky's record now stands at three won, three lost and one tied. Biggest concern of the Wildcat board of strategists this week is stopping the unorthodox style of play that will be employed by Coach Bill Alexander's charges. Willy Alexander is regarded as one of the best when it comes to producing uncanny play. Many fans call him the daddy of razzle-dazzle football.

Practice sessions this week have been devoted to ways and means of stalemating the probable flurry of freak plays that will be offered Saturday by Tech. The Engineers' annual light team is offset by a repertoire of lightning-like, tricky formations and runs.

Engineer's Offensive

Headlining the Engineer offense are Ralph Plaster, veteran fullback, R. J. Jordan, end, Clint Castleberry, frosh half, and Eddie Prokop, soph back. Plaster has caused much trouble in previous 'Cat-Tech frays, and scored 24 points for Tech this year. Jordan has snagged four touchdowns passes this season, including two against Duke last Saturday. Castleberry is the sensational first-year gridder who has set tongues wagging all over the conference. Some may remember him as a member of the strong Boys' high team of Atlanta last season. Prokop, just another frosh last year, has blossomed into a major threat this season.

'Cat Wounds Healed

To offset these and the other Engineers, Kentucky will present a lineup that will be at its best shape since the opener with Georgia. The list of injuries, both major and minor, that have been handicapping the team are cured. Gene Meeks, hard-running scabbard who has been out for several weeks, is ready again, and Randall Hammer, sidelined with a broken shoulder, is available once more. Chief item of interest concerning the 'Cat injury list revolves around Phil Cutchin, triple-threat halfback, who is ready to go again after laying out of the George Washington contest with hurts suffered in the 'Bama scrap. Charley Bill Walker and Jay Rhodemyre, centers, are also back in shape. Cutchin's return to the starting backfield is expected to

ATO'S, SAE'S MARK UP WINS IN INTRAMURALS First-Round Play Is Completed As Semi-Finals Set

The ATOs and the SAEs advanced one notch in the touch football tournament Tuesday as first-round play was completed; the ATOs by downing a highly-regarded Phi Tau team, and the SAEs by edging out the Deltas 24-18 in a thrill-packed game climaxed by Lee Roy Hughes' snagging of a touchdown pass in the fading seconds to break an 18-18 deadlock.

This completed the semi-finals lineup and pitted the SAEs against the B-19's and the ATOs opposite the Phi Deltas.

A protest was made by the Deltas that the winning marker was scored after the final gun had sounded, and the SAEs won the playoff, which went only one half, 6-0. Lee Roy Hughes intercepted a Delt pass and ran it to the one-yard line, then went over for the score.

Between the Deltas and the favored SAEs it was nip and tuck in both games. In the first game Evans passed to Greathouse early in the first quarter for the initial SAE marker, and after five more plays, center Jim Purser intercepted, and on a long one from Adams to Boaz, invaded the SAE end zone for the first time this season. Greathouse pulled down another one across the double marker and the half ended 18-6.

In the third quarter things really began to pop. The Deltas flung another one across to make the count 18-12, and then Captain Bill Evans of SAE was injured and forced to leave the game. A deep face cut kept him out of further match competition. In the fourth, Adams unloaded another barrage of passes which ended in another Delt score, knotting the count at 18-all. With only moments left, the SAEs took to the air and pulled another one out of the hat to move on to the semis.

The ATOs scored on the Phi Tau's in the second play of the game as Eversole intercepted a pass and galloped 25 yards for paydirt. The second quarter found them pushing another one across as Kramer's pass hit the spot. A safety, also in the second, increased their score to 14. The Phi Tau's scored their lone marker on a short pass in the final period.

add considerable punch there, since Kentucky's attack in the GW clash was noticeably slowed by the Murray half's absence.

Tech has won its only start without in the conference, picked up the other five wins in non-conference starts. Kentucky currently shares the loop cellar with Mississippi. Despite a record of no wins and three losses, the 'Cats have only been outscored, 28-13.

Thirty-One Entour

Thirty-one players were included in the entourage that left Lexington early Thursday morning for Knoxville, where it stopped Thursday afternoon for a workout on the Uni-

KERNEL SPORTS

The Sporting Way

By BAXTER MELTON

Campus grid interest is centered on the 'Cats' clash with Tech in Atlanta Saturday, but many local fans are expected to trek to the Fort Knox-Iowa Pre-Flight game in Louisville. The Seahawks rule as heavy favorites, but the Kentuckians are expected to produce a few surprises for the visitors.

Of chief interest to University students is the fact that Carl "Hoot" Combs, former 'Cat back, is regarded as the greatest offensive threat of the Knox eleven. Advance stories on Saturday's tilt picture Hoot's passing to Bill Stanton, former Arizona griddier, as Knox's biggest reason to hope for victory.

Kuhn Scores Near Top

Charley Kuhn, 'Cat right half, went into second place in the Southeastern conference scoring race this week by tallying 15 points against George Washington last week. In scoring two touchdowns and three extra points against the Colonials, "Automatic" Charley ran his point-total to 52, only 14 behind the 66 held by Georgia's great Frankie Sinkwich. Kuhn's total includes six touchdowns and 16 conversions.

Triplet Takes Honor

Pete Triplett, who got his first starting role last week against George Washington when Charley Bill Walker and Jay Rhodemyre were injured, was named on the All-SEC sophomore team this week. According to the dispatch, Triplett was named because of his "impressive performance against GW."

Bumper Crop Of Upsets

Seasons may come and seasons may go, but this grid campaign has produced its share of upsets. Probably the greatest of the year and one to rank in all-time figures was the 28-0 drubbing given Iowa's Pre-Flighters by Notre Dame. Georgia Tech's 13-6 win over Notre Dame in an early season start was also regarded as a major surprise. Only last week Wisconsin, enjoying merely a so-so season, ran over Ohio State, ranked as the nation's top eleven.

Kentucky itself caused some eyebrows to be lifted in the opener against Georgia, but has failed to show that power again, with the possible exception of the Vanderbilt game.

Monikermania

There seems to be a prevalent opinion that weird, odd-sounding names go with winning football teams like ham with eggs. Look at Fordham, Notre Dame or Minnesota, say these people, who point out names that end in -insky, -osky or -izki.

George Washington should be a world beater if this principle holds true. Take a look at their roster which includes Czekaj, two Zeno's, Rosa, Romasco, Labukas, Paidokovich, Bubonovich, Koniszewski, Mislewicz, Hapenowicz and Viece.

Georgia Tops Nation

Georgia went to the top of national grid ratings this week, following Ohio State's defeat by Wisconsin—Wisconsin took over second place, Georgia Tech holds third, Notre Dame is fourth and Boston College fifth. The Buckeyes dropped to sixth. Three Kentucky foes, Georgia, Alabama, and Georgia Tech, are included in the first 10, so those annual cries of Kentucky scheduling weak foes should be hushed.

Georgia's taking first place enables it to regain the slot it held in pre-season ratings.

Rickey To Brooklyn

Campus baseball fans were interested to hear of Branch Rickey's appointment to Brooklyn's executive chair. Rickey's success at St. Louis, his development of the farm system and various promotional ideas, earned him the place. Next summer's baseball activity is expected to see many of the smaller minor loops fold up, chiefly because of lack of young players.

University of Tennessee field. Thursday night was spent in Knoxville and the squad went through another workout there this morning. This afternoon the team moves on to Atlanta, arriving there early tonight. The trip back is scheduled to start at 10 a. m. Sunday, with the group arriving in Lexington about 9 o'clock Sunday night.

Players making the trip are Althaus, Beck, Casner, Colvin, Cutchin, Eblen, Ewing, Griffin, Hammer, Herbert, Hoyer, Hurst, Johnson, Jones, Kohl, Kuhn, Lair, Meeks, Moseley, Parr, Rhodemyre, Sauer, Sengle, Taylor, Triplett, Tunstall, Charley Bill Walker, Paul Walker, Welborn, Wood, and Yarusis.

Starting Lineups

Kentucky's starting lineup is expected to be the same as in previous games this season with the possible exception of right end and right tackle. Alan Parr may get the call at end instead of Charley Eblen, and Bill Griffin may take Clark Wood's place. Bob Herbert will probably return to his slot at full, with Johnny Hurst in reserve.

Tom Ewing has been working in Bill Moseley's place at blocking back this week, but Moseley will probably start.

The probable starting lineups:

Sengle	le
Johnson	lt
Colvin	lg
Walker	c
Beck	rg
Wood	rt
Parr	fb
